Death Has 3 Lives

THE STORY: Private Detective Michael Shayne, through his frightened secretary Lucy, Hamilton, has unwittingly aided Jack Bristol, wanted for murder, escape a great investigation. Shayne meets a young woman who says she is Mrs. Paul Smith, obviously not her real name. He finds "Mrs. Smith" lodgings at a motel.

Chapter IX
Lucy Hamilton was blinking and rubbing sleep out of her eyes when she met Shayne at the door. She looked worried and nervous, and

He told her swiftly about the girl who had accosted him at the scene. "So I've got her stashed there for the night," he concluded. "Might be one of Jack's girls, but..."

"He was the sort to have one in every port," she conceded. "What do we do now?"

He was saved from having to answer by the ring of her buzzer from downstairs. Shayne motioned her back and hurried to the speaking tube to ask who it was.

He said, "Sure. Come up," and pressed the button. He opened the door wide and turned to warn Lucy: "Chief Gentry and Tim Rourke. Let me do the talking until we find out what it's all about."

She nodded her head.

Will Gentry, Chief of the Miami police force, was a big stolid man with a heavy face and curiously rumpled eyelids which habitually drooped low over weary and cynical eyes. He wheezed as he pulled himself up the last step to Lucy's landing, and nodded briefly to Shayne who lounged in the doorway.

Shayne shrugged and moved aside to let Gentry enter. He raised bushy red eyebrows enquiringly at Timothy Rourke, his second oldest friend in Miami and long-time reporter. Rourke was lean, hard muscled and as gray-headed and carried himself with the same springy ease. He shook his head and put a finger to his lips in response to Shayne's unspoken question, indicating that he had tagged along on sufficiency and his promise not to talk out of turn.

Chief Will Gentry stood flat-footed in the center of the rug with an unlit black cigar in his blunt fingers. Moving in from the door, Shayne saw him put the cigar carefully in his right vest pocket. Instead of producing a match, he drew out a small slip of paper, folded once, and held it out to Lucy.

"Is that your handwriting?"

Lucy took the paper timidly, glancing up imploringly at Shayne but getting no response from him. Her fingers shook as she unfolded the paper and saw her name and street address written on it in ink. She shook her head and frowned in perplexity. "No. I didn't write it."

She held the paper out to Shayne for confirmation.

He glanced at the slip and shook his head at once. "Of course not. What is this business, Will?"

"Do you have any idea who might have written it, Lucy?" persisted the chief.

"If you mean do I recognize the

Committee Named to Make Probe

HOPE SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A Little Rock doctor will head a seven-man committee of the Arkansas Medical Society to "look into the full relationship of the University of Arkansas and its school of medicine."

Dr. Joe Shuffield of Little Rock and six other doctors were named to the committee yesterday by the Council of the Arkansas Medical Society, which is meeting here in convention.

The decision to look into the relationship followed reports that Dr. Hayden Nicholson, dean of the medical school, had resigned as dean because of difficulty in getting the medical school's problems before the university's Board of Trustees.

Dr. Nicholson said it was "gross over simplification" to say that the difficulties were the only — or the main reason for his resignation. He will become an official in the Hospital Council of New York this month.

Others named to the Medical Society committee include Dr. W. Thoms of DeWitt, Dr. H. King Wade of Hot Springs, Dr. H. F. Smith of McGehee, Dr. Warren Workman of Elbeville, Dr. Jim Kolb of Clarksville and Eugene Warren of Little Rock, a legal counsel.

Writing . . . no. Any one of lots of people might have written down my name and address."

Will Gentry shrugged burly shoulders and looked around for a comfortable chair. He lowered himself into one carefully and began to search his pockets for a match. Timothy Rourke moved past Shayne toward a seat on the divan beside Lucy, tilting a hand toward his mouth expressively and lifting black eyebrows.

Shayne motioned and started toward the kitchenette, asking Gentry, "Want a drink while you're being mysterious, Will?"

"Beer," sighed Gentry.

He was placidly emitting clouds of noxious cigar smoke when Shayne returned with an unopened bottle for him, bourbon and water for Rourke. The reporter was sitting upright beside Lucy, his gaze fixed on the trailing end of the loose telephone cord behind the chief's back.

"Been trying to date some gal right here in front of Lucy?" Shayne glared at him for silence and disregard of the question. "Ready to tell us what it's all about, Will?"

Gentry approvingly drank half his bottle of beer. "That slip of paper with Lucy's name and address on it was found on the floor beside a Miami telephone booth open at the H's."

"I had her change to an unlisted phone six months ago," explained Shayne. "My many cranks know she works for me. So you found this on the floor. Where?"

"In a rooming house on 18th Street," Chief Gentry drank more beer from the bottle.

"That's interesting," said Shayne in aspiration.

"The most interesting thing of all," said Gentry placidly, "was on the floor, to show that the body of a dead girl lay strangled."

Chapter IX
Lucy Hamilton was blinking and rubbing sleep out of her eyes when she met Shayne at the door. She looked worried and nervous, and caught him by the arm to detain him. "Did you find anything, Michael?" "Not much," he closed the door with a frown. "I didn't want to ask questions about him. All they actually seem to have is that a taxi picked him up outside with a gunshot wound just about the time the girl must have been strangled. I'll get all the dope from Tim Rourke as soon as I can locate him. In the meantime, Lucy, was Jack Bristol married?" "I don't think so. Not when I met him," she said.

Committee Named to Make Probe
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A Little Rock doctor will head a seven-man committee of the Arkansas Medical Society to "look into the full relationship of the University of Arkansas and its school of medicine."

Dr. Joe Shuffield of Little Rock and six other doctors were named to the committee yesterday by the Council of the Arkansas Medical Society, which is meeting here in convention.

The decision to look into the relationship followed reports that Dr. H. W. Thoms of Dermott, Dr. H. King Wade of Hot Springs, Dr. H. F. Smith of McGee, Dr. Wayne Workman of Elbeville, Dr. Jim Kolb of Clarksville and Eugene Warren of Little Rock, a legal counsel.

Writing . . . no. Any one of lots of people might have written down my name and address."

Will Gentry shuffled burly shoulders and looked around for a comfortable chair. He lowered himself into one carefully and began to search his pockets for a match. Timothy Rourke moved past Shayne toward a seat on the divan beside Lucy, tilting a hand toward his mouth expressively and lifting black eyebrows.

Shayne nodded and waited toward the kitchenette, asking Gentry, "Want a drink while you're being mysterious, Will?" "Beer," sighed Gentry.

He was placidly emitting clouds of noxious cigar smoke when Shayne returned with an unopened bottle for him, bourbon and water for Rourke. The reporter was sitting upright beside Lucy, his gaze fixed on the trailing end of the loose telephone cord behind the chief's back. "Been trying to date some gal right here in front of Lucy?" Shayne glared at him for silence and disregarded the question. "Ready to tell us what it's all about, Will?"

Gentry approvingly drank half his bottle of beer. "That slip of paper with Lucy's name and address on it was found on the floor beside a Miami telephone book open at the 'H's'."

"I had her change to an unlisted phone six months ago," explained Shayne. "My cranks know she works for me. So you found this on the floor. Where?"

"In a rooming house on 18th Street," Chief Gentry drank more beer from the bottle.

"That's interesting," said Shayne in aspiration.

Errors Costly, Plain Dealing Downs Hope

After staving through six full innings to give the victory to the Legionnaires, the Plain Dealing Lions caught fire, scored 2 runs in the seventh, and one each in the eighth and ninth, to down the Legionnaires 6-4 here last night.

The 2,466 fans on hand roared approval of Pop's gesture which was seen also by a national television audience.

For Mayor
The Lions took over the lead in the third as two runs crossed the plate on three singles and an error.
The Legionnaires picked up two more in their half of the third on

Roberts Keeps Phils Out of the Basement

By ED CORRIAN
Without collecting looking Robin
Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies gave the Pittsburgh Pirates
a good run for the National League cellar.

As long as Robin perishes in winning 20 or better games a set-son, the Phillies will stay out of the basement. Roberts has won 20 or more games the past five years and 1955 will be no exception. If he continues at this pace, the Phillies have present pace.

No Settlement Sign in British Railway Strike

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP) — British railway strike ground into its sixth day today with labor peace makers reporting "no progress at all." Industrial plants were slow to start up from lack of materials, along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. Heavy falls were reported in some parts of Kansas and South Dakota. Tornado winds struck yesterday near Great Bend, Kan., and Seneca, the southern tip of the Texas Panhandle.

Light showers fell in the Pacific Northwest and along the northern Atlantic coast.

"Temperatures early today ranged from a mild 78 degrees at Key West, Fla., to a chilly 38 at Bryce Canyon, in southern Utah.

Factories and workshops began to cut operations with widespread strikes in prospect if the strike does not end quickly.

Scanned they would bank their furnaces today and put 2,700 workers out of work.

No new moves came yesterday from Prime Minister Eden's government, which officials denied any intention to private utility managers.

The 70,000 ASLEP members, who are demanding a 12 percent raise of $1.12 a week over their present base pay of $27.30.

The ASLEP strike is strongly opposed by the 400,000-strong National Union of Railwaymen, which includes about 17,000 engine and firemen and the rest of the rail labor. But the NUJR says it wage talks are reopened for the other union, its men also must be considered.

Little Change in Nation's Weather

By The Associated Press

Little change was reported in the nation's weather today.

More rain fell in sections of the mid-continent, western areas and along the northern Atlantic coast.

Fairly pleasant weather prevailed in most other areas with mild temperatures in many parts of the country.

Showers and thunderstorms continued during the night and early morning in the Plains States and along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. Heavy falls were reported in some parts of Kansas and South Dakota. Tornado winds struck yesterday near Great Bend, Kan., and Seneca, the southern tip of the Texas Panhandle.

Drive on to Make Vaccine Free to All

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats have set in motion a drive to make free Salk vaccine available to every American child.

It would go well beyond President Eisenhower's plan to pay for antipolio inoculation only of children whose parents can't afford the shot.

A bill to carry out the rival forced last night by Chairman Hill and Public Welfare Committee Democrats on the Senate floor.

At the same time, Hill called a meeting of the committee for Monday to consider the proposed bill.

Democrats on the Senate floor, one Democratic member, Sen. Murray of Montana, is in Europe. The committee Democrats and Republicans have been at odds over how best to handle the Salk vaccine situation.

Sen. Murray's bill would require the government to make a fair trial in New York, home on May 1.

Anastasia's first trial in Newark, N. J., ended in a hung jury on Nov. 20. His attorney demanded a change of venue to Camden, charging that news reports of the disappearance of a government witness made a fair trial in Newark impossible.

The missing witness, Charles F. Pearl, a one-time Post-Newsweek reporter, testified at the first trial that he had $8,700 worth of work on the defendant's first trial in Newark, N. J., ended in a hung jury on Nov. 20. Reputed Lord of Murder Gets 2 Years

CAMDEN, N. J. (INS) — Albert Anastasia, reputed "lord high executioner" for Murder, Inc., today was sentenced to two years in prison and fined a total of $25,000 for evading payment of nearly 12,000 in federal income taxes.

Senate Passed Foreign Aid Bill to House

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's $3 billion dollar foreign aid program sped to the House today after comfortably surviving all attempts in the Senate to reduce the total.

Small passage last night marked the first time in five years a global aid authorization measure passed the Senate without a money cut. Also defeated were attempts to require that a major part of economic aid be made as loans rather than grants.

The final vote was 59-10, with 11 Republicans and seven Democrats voting "no." The program is already under consideration by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The overwhelming approval concealed a measure of strong disapproval on the part of some senators who voted for the bill. They served notice that they would fight to reduce the money total in the Appropriations Committee and later on the Senate floor when the forthcoming money bill is taken up. The legislation passed without a money cut. Also defeated were attempts to require that a major part of economic aid be made as loans rather than grants.

Blind Man Sees After Quarrel

By ST. FAITH'S, England (AP)

Peter Barr had a row with his wife and regained his sight after 10 years of blindness.

The 54-year-old veteran was blinded while flying in the closing months of the war. He was married after his return home.

Arguing with his spouse this week, Barr said he was "seeing" for the first time in 10 years. He said he was "seeing" for the first time in 10 years. He said he was "seeing" for the first time in 10 years.
